Who is Aqueon?

- Aside from the conventional hydrogeological and geotechnical assessments we offer innovative solutions for the management of excess associated or co-produced water.
- We have five permanent staff and seven casual staff based in SA and Vic and locate our staff in Qld and NSW as projects require.
- Two of our key staff are acknowledged as international technical experts in the highly specialised area on aquifer reinjection and our innovations in this specialist area are leading edge.
- We are backed by the HRL Group headquartered in Melbourne and VEMCO which collectively have over 600 employees.
- We have extensive experience in all major exploration basins across Australia.

Why Aqueon?

- What sets Aqueon and its partner organisations apart from the more traditional suppliers in this space is our ability to offer alternative solutions to the water management challenges that face our clients.
- A key differentiator is our unmatched expertise in aquifer reinjection.
 - We have delivered over 80 percent of all managed aquifer recharge schemes in Australia.
 - Our staff share more than 100 years of practical experience in this highly specialised area.
 - We currently operate a number of reinjection systems on behalf of our clients
 - We have unmatched experience in high pressure, large volume & high temperature reinjection.
 - We operate throughout Australia and are therefore familiar with the regulatory requirements across all states.
 - We offer total project development, and total water solutions that incorporate EPC, BOO and BOOT options.
